What are chemical reactions used for?

Summary

Name ..........................................

Chemical reactions that can be used as energy sources include

Chemical reactions that are used to make new materials include

Chemical reactions that are important in biological systems include