Report: What sank the Kursk?

What you do

Write a report for a media organisation describing what sank the Kursk. Include:

- the results of the seismic analysis;
- conclusions from your experiments about hydrogen peroxide; and
- the conclusions from the reports about the torpedoes used on Kursk.

This could be a radio or TV report or interview, or an article for a newspaper.

- Make sure that you report the facts accurately.
- Carry out further research to get extra information to put into your report.
- Make sure your report is brief and to the point.
